RESIDENTIAL LEASE SUMMARY AGREEMENT

ALTERNATIVE SYNTHETIC TEST FILE • NOT A REAL CONTRACT

This fictional document tests Lease Lens with different wording, values, and headings from the first sample. It is for software testing only and has not been reviewed for legal use.

A. Rental Premises

Demo Owner agrees to rent the fictional apartment Unit 8B, 77 Sample Crescent, Testville, to Demo Occupant. The illustrative tenancy begins on 15 December 2026.

B. Payment Schedule

Occupancy charges are MYR 1,850 per month, due no later than the third calendar day of each month. This amount is a synthetic test value and is not a real offer or obligation.

C. Deposit Held

A refundable tenancy deposit of MYR 3,700 is to be held during the occupancy, subject to the terms of a hypothetical final contract. This wording intentionally differs from the phrase “security deposit.”

D. Minimum Occupancy Commitment

The minimum occupancy commitment is 6 months. Early termination conditions, if any, would need to be specified in a separately reviewed final agreement.

E. Ending the Tenancy

Either party should provide 45 days' written notice before the intended end date, subject to the final agreement. This sample does not state whether that condition is legally enforceable.

F. Care of the Unit

The occupant should keep the unit reasonably clean and report significant maintenance issues promptly. The owner should arrange necessary structural repairs according to the final agreed terms.

G. Utility Charges

Electricity and water usage are paid by the occupant unless the parties record a different arrangement in their final signed document.

Testing note: Expected candidate values, if the current rules recognize these alternative labels and wording, are rent MYR 1,850/month, deposit MYR 3,700, commitment 6 months, and notice 45 days. If a value is not recognized, Lease Lens should report it as not found rather than inventing a value.
